Remember Fallen At Sunday Service

VETERANS PARADE TO ST. ANDREW'S

The annual memorial church parade and service was held on Sunday at St. Andrew's church, Newmarket, by members of the Newmarket Legion, Newmarket Veterans' Association and the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion. The Newmarket Trumpet Band and the Citizens' Band offered their services and their presence added greatly to the parade. Other participants in the parade were representatives from council and three color parties.

On the march from the town square to the church, rain prevented the crowds from witnessing the parade, but the church was filled for the service. Frank Burling sounded The Last Post and Reveille at the church.

The service was conducted by Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau. Appropriate scripture lessons and hymns were used and a two-minute silence was observed. Mr. Boudreau preached the sermon.

On the return march, the salute was taken by Mayor Joseph Vale and Major Handley Geary, V.C., at the post office. Coffee and sandwiches were served to the participants in the parade at its conclusion by members of the Legion Ladies' Auxiliary.

Major Geary, who was one of the originals when the Newmarket Military Camp was established, welcomed the opportunity on Sunday to renew acquaintances, Major Geary met many old friends, both military and civilian, during his stay in town and was taken by members of the Legion to visit the old officers' mess. He declared it a very fine Legion hall.

WAR DEAD CHALLENGE SENSE OF DUTY

Speaking at the memorial service held at St. Andrew's church, Newmarket, on Sunday, Rev. M. E. R. Boudreau said:

"Remember is one of the most significant words in the English language. It occurs frequently in the Bible. Behind the gates of memory are stored all our thoughts, feelings and aspirations—everything we have seen or said or done is there. Memories consecrate the past. Wherever we travel throughout the world we find certain places which because of their historical associations are sacred. The battle fields of France, the desert wastes of Northern Africa, the dark, brown hills of Italy, the Islands of the South Seas—these are all red with the blood of sacrifice. The story of our freedom, whether it be civil, political or religious, is a story of sacrifice.

"Memory also clarifies the past as it helps us to capitalize upon the past. If we are able to look back with the confident assurance that we have performed our duty faithfully in the various relationships of life—in the home, in the school, in the place of business, in the community, in the nation—then we are blessed indeed.

"There is a certain sense of tragedy when we see a young man die. We feel it isn't natural for young people to die, but there is also with it a sense of wonderment. How long a person lives, however, is not very important. How we use the time allotted to us is the significant thing. Some people accomplish a great deal in a limited amount of time. The young men who died in the two great wars are not forgotten. They helped to change the whole course of human history. We learn from them that tyranny is not easily destroyed. Their faithfulness to duty challenges us to do our own duties in the various relationships of life."

QUARTER OF PIPES LAID AURORA RINK

Work at the Aurora Memorial Arena is forging steadily ahead step by step, artificial ice is installed. This week, nearly one-quarter of the ice pipes had been laid by Wednesday. When these pipes are completely laid a special asphalt hot-mix is to be first poured between them. The pipes will then receive a covering of this same mix.

Early this week complications hindered the efforts of the workers. Although the arena had been dug, gravelled and levelled, the south-east corner heaved a few inches. Extra work was necessary in order to once more level the arena.

Meanwhile it has not yet been possible for work to begin on the western side of the arena. This remodelling and adding will enlarge the arena considerably, and will allow for a greatly increased seating capacity. Plans still call for this aspect of the job to be completed by the opening of the hockey season.

CONSIDER NEW TRUCK

The purchase of a new public works truck for Newmarket is being considered by council. Requests for tenders have been sent to all truck dealers in Newmarket, according to the engineer, Denne Bosworth. Councillor Frank Bowser advised that the town keep the old truck as well.

York County Police Ass'n Hold Ladies' Night

Wednesday evening the York County Police Association held a special ladies' night at the Grey-stone, Aurora. The attendance ran to nearly 50. The evening, which began with a dinner, was followed by a brief program and dancing. Special speaker for the evening was Detective William Martindale of the York County Police. Detective Martindale traced the development of the York County Police Association and called on the wives of the members to form a ladies' auxiliary. A special toast to the ladies was proposed by County Constable Carl Morton of Keswick, and was replied to by Mrs. Byron Burbridge of Newmarket.

Aurora Legion Hall Is Dedicated By Hon. A. Welsh

Speaking at the special dedication service in the new Legion hall at Aurora, the Honorable Colonel Arthur Welsh, Provincial Secretary for the Province of Ontario, praised the work of Aurora Legion members in the completion of their new hall. Remarking on the beauty of the building, Colonel Welsh stressed the need for similar community buildings throughout Ontario.

The dedication services followed a special remembrance parade by Legion members to the cenotaph at the south end of Aurora. Despite adverse weather a large group was present, and although outdoor services had to be cancelled, the ceremony was memorable.

Quick Response Of Firemen Saves Upper Storey Of Home

The worst fire this year in Newmarket gutted the ground floor of the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Morton, Queen's Lane, shortly after 9 o'clock Tuesday night. The house is the only one on the small street east of Prospect between Queen and Grace Sts. Mr. Morton has been in hospital since the fire, suffering from burns to hands and face he received while leaving the burning house.

Coal Gas Floods Apartment Building Blame Plugged Chimney

Called to the Yonge St. apartment building owned by Charles Brighton, the Aurora Fire Department found three of the apartments filled with coal gas Saturday evening. The fire department was summoned by Mrs. Annie McLeod around 10 p.m.

According to fire department members, the early discovery of the coal gas saved the lives of the apartment residents. The cause of the gas leak was attributed to plugged chimney flues. It was believed that while remodeling the second floor of the apartment building, bits of mortar and brick escaped down the chimney as new flues were installed upstairs. The refuse lodged in the downstairs flues, plugging the coal gas outlet.

The Newmarket firemen were holding a meeting in the fire hall and were at the scene in a little more than a minute from the time the alarm was sounded. At the time the fire broke out in the kitchen, Mr. Morton was in the basement where Horace Cumber and Ken Osborne were installing a furnace. Mrs. Morton had left the house for a short time to visit a neighbor.

When the three men smelled smoke, Mr. Morton went up the cellar stairway and found the kitchen in flames. He went through the kitchen and out the side door while the other two men left the basement through a window. The fire started in the kitchen and had no connection with the installation of the furnace, according to fire chief Joseph Brammer.

While the ground floor was gutted the upstairs was damaged by smoke, heat and some flames. One room which was closed off was not damaged. The house was insured.

Firemen were able to stop the flames in a short time. Said Fire Chief Brammer yesterday, "The men did a wonderful job. If we had been much later, nothing could have been done and the house would have been completely destroyed."

Veterans' Executives Guests Of Lions At Monday Meeting

Members of the executive of the Newmarket Veterans' Association and the Newmarket branch of the Canadian Legion were guests on Monday night of the Newmarket Lions club. Guest speaker for the Armistice Day meeting of the club was Rev. Henry Cotton.

Mr. Cotton spoke of his own experiences during the first great war in which he served in the air force until shot down and taken prisoner. He told of a review in the Valcartier camp during the first great war when it took three hours for 40,000 men to march past the reviewing stand.

"Think of how long it would take for the 100,000 men and women from Canada who fell in two world wars to march past," he said. "We must never forget them. They died to purchase for us our freedom. May we live more worthily of these great comrades who did not come back."

If J. Luck introduced Mr. Cotton and told of his record as a

TO RESUME CANVASS FOR ARENA FUND

By GEO. HASKETT Chairman Fred Thompson reported to the members of the ways and means committee and Newmarket Recreation Commission Tuesday on progress at the arena. Mr. Thompson gave a complete picture of the work accomplished to date and the financial picture as it now stands.

The work on the addition to the arena, estimated at a cost of 60 percent of the complete job, had been carried through at less than estimated. To complete the financial end of the installation, further funds were required. It was decided that the canvass of Newmarket businessmen would open in earnest again. The town's share for half the cost had been passed and now it is necessary for the committee to raise their share if the rink is to be a success. The canvass is expected to be completed before the end of November. Donations to the fund are exempt from income tax.

The volunteer welders completed their part of the work Saturday. Testing commenced Monday evening. Fifteen leaks, all of a minor variety, discovered—a fine effort when you consider close to 2,000 welds were necessary to complete the job. Testing now underway consists of running water through the pipes for 48 hours at town pressure. After that, a further week of testing is required.

A word to volunteer sand shovellers and wheelbarrow crew—stand by. Bugle Band and Pickering College! Any day now the call goes out. "Mickey" Smith reports a band of 12 from the Legion is ready to lend a hand. Rubber-tired wheelbarrows will be needed. Have you such an animal that we can borrow, or better still, if you feel so attached to the thing bring it down yourself and help wheel in the sand. Every bit helps. Phone 115 or 191 if you have a barrow that we can pick up if needed.

There is no extravagance in the plans for Newmarket's new Prince Charles school, according to supervising principal H. A. Jackson. Mr. Jackson submitted a detailed report to the public school board on Friday night of his recent inspection of the new public schools at Strathroy, London and Arva.

The school board has been inspecting various new schools to become acquainted with the most recent types of school buildings. A report was given also by Herbert Atkins on the new J. J. Workman school, Scarboro Twp., which he and J. L. R. Bell inspected recently.

Mr. Jackson described the new schools as having a decided advantage over other schools.

Mr. Atkins described similar conditions in the J. J. Workman school. Both reports told of the use of concrete enamel on all walls that would be touched by children's hands. According to the reports, no marks or writing would show up on the walls with the concrete enamel material.

Mr. Jackson advised that a public address system be put in the Prince Charles school or at least the wiring put in while the building is under construction. With this equipment, the principal can speak to all class rooms, halls, playgrounds one at a time or all at once.

Cost of the public address equipment in a 12-room school was $1,500. The Prince Charles will be a six-room school. Chairman of the board, Mrs. M. B. Selmon, said that enough money might be saved using mastic tile floors instead of linoleum to put in the public address system.

"Standard toilet partitions are very high and with these, supervision would be nil. With so much moisture around, rusting would begin almost immediately. The mastic work would have to be kept continuously painted. Marble finish requires practically no upkeep."

Andrew St. Seeks Better Lights, Spillette Decries Low Voltage

Increased street lighting was requested in a petition from citizens of Andrew St. at Newmarket town council meeting on Monday night. Councillor Lorne Paynter in supporting the petition said that the street was definitely dark and that some people had to use flash lights to walk to their homes.

At the same meeting a report was made by Deputy Reeve J. L. Spillette who with councillor R. C. Morrison recently met with the hydro commission to request more street lights.

He said that the commission had stated that it was impossible to increase lighting on Main St. Since that time, he said, he was informed that there will be no shortage of lighting as soon as new poles are put in.

"We assume that we will get better lighting when the new poles are put in but we want larger bulbs in the meantime," said Mr. Spillette. "It's not a case of asking for a gift; we are going to pay for it."

Decrying the low voltage in Newmarket power, Mr. Spillette said that there should be representation from council to the hydro commission for more voltage. "We are paying for something we do not get," he said. "We pay a special charge in case we might use a full 110 volts and many times we are only getting 69 volts. I think it is time that we were getting what we pay for from the hydro."

Over 99 pc Effective Survey In 5th Week

The diabetes survey in Newmarket has covered 1,400 people in Newmarket and only 13 have been missed so far. Some of these will be tested later. These figures indicate that the efficiency of the survey is over 99 percent. The survey is in its fifth week.

All the public schools and the high school have been completed. Pickering College is to be completed today. The Dixon Pencil Company was completed on Tuesday and yesterday the employees of the Bender Casket Company were tested with 100 percent attendance.

Among the 13 missed in the survey, three who were either sick or recovering will be tested along with their parents in the last part of the survey.

The survey of the schools was completely successful in all respects. On Tuesday, at a board of health meeting, comment was made on the excellent co-operation from the heads of all the schools in Newmarket. Special mention was made of the St. John's school which put the survey on a 100 percent start.

There have been occasional refusals to be tested. Those working close to the survey find it difficult to understand why.

HOLD BOWLING NIGHT

On Tuesday, Nov. 15, Trinity Anglican church, Aurora, held its monthly bowling night. There was a splendid attendance and everyone reported having a good time.

DONATE CAKE

The Ladies' Auxiliary and Legion, Aurora, are grateful to the Spence Bakery which so kindly donated a beautiful cake for the monthly meeting. This was placed on the head table surrounded by poppies.

It is pointed out that there is no harm done to the person who is being tested for diabetes. There is no stigma attached to the disease and it is beneficial to an individual to find out if he suffers from it. The survey brings no profit to any individual or group but is a help to the health of the country as a whole. There is no way to force an individual to submit himself to a test and it is requested that before anyone refuses, he should consider the reasons why he refuses.

YORK TEAM FIFTH OF 36 AT ROYAL
At the inter-county livestock judging competition Monday at the Royal Winter Fair, York county placed fifth in competition with 36 other counties. The team of Jack Wauchope, Schomberg, John Kennedy, Agincourt, and Perry Winch, Keswick, did an excellent job as a team with scores of 874, 857 and 847 respectively out of 1,000. Wauchope placed ninth in the individual scoring, while Kennedy was tied for 20th. Winch won the Gold Medal for the highest individual score in swine judging.
These young men have had a week's intensive training throughout this and neighboring counties under the direction of their coach, Jim McCullough, assistant agricultural representative, Newmarket, in preparation for this contest in which they were required to judge and give reasons for their placings on two classes of each of the following: dairy cattle, beef cattle, sheep, swine and horses. The three received their first training in judging in calf or swine clubs.
The winning team in the competition was from Perth, followed in order by Peterborough, Peel, Elgin and York. High man in the entire competition was R. J. Stewart of Bolton.

The new York county building was officially opened on Friday by Lieutenant Governor Lawson. The modern concrete and steel building cost $340,000 and stands at the south-west corner of Adelaide St. East and Church St.

Miss Hilda Meyrick, York county clerk, holds a copy of the first by-law passed by York county council. The by-law provided for payment of $2 daily fee to councillors attending meetings.

Record 99 Transfers Of Whitchurch Land In Two Months

Activity in real estate in the township of Whitchurch was evident at Saturday's meeting of the township council when it was reported from the registry office at Newmarket that 99 transfers of property had passed through that office for the township within two months.

During August, 53 sales were registered and in September, 46.
Reeve Ed Logan said that there were probably other properties sold in Whitchurch during this period that owners had not yet registered. This activity in real estate it was pointed out causes much extra work in township office.

The Editorials:

Times Are Changing

Our memory of public school is one of drab walls painted in an economical brown, the musty smell of oiled floors and uncomfortable steel and wood desks. Invariably too, each room had its blind spots from which it was impossible to see the blackboard because of the reflection of the light from the windows. Each room was uniform in appearance and decoration except for the brave efforts of the junior rooms at Christmas, Easter, Halloween and Valentine Day. The light was not good, the halls were dark and ventilation lacking completely. This in a city which prided itself on its school system.

At that, we suppose the school was one of the best for its time, but after reading Mr. H. A. Jackson's report to the public school board on the schools he saw recently, the school we attended seems more like a mausoleum. At Strathroy, Mr. Jackson found color schemes varying in each school room from a dusty pink through a range of green and browns, colors chosen for their brightness and ease upon the eyes of the pupils. The desks were plywood and adjustable. The floors are of tile and a material like linoleum and colored to harmonize with the walls and ceilings.

At Knollwood Park in London, all the blackboards are of lucite to reduce glare and reflection. The rooms are warmed by radiant heating and lit by fluorescent lighting. Again there is the variety of color schemes, blues, greys, sands, yellows and greens. Again the floors are of composition materials in harmonizing colors. It was the same for the school at Arva.

The specifications for the new school in Newmarket have caused some concern. Unfortunately, a good deal of the talk was just talk—talk. There was no foundation of fact. However, there is no question that the new school is extreme in design compared to the existing schools, and its furnishings will approximate those found in other schools described above.

But this should not be considered unusual. Newmarket's last public school was built some 20 years or more ago. Great advances in school construction have been made since then. The attitude towards schools has changed too. Greater effort is made to make the best impression upon the pupils, not only in the teaching but in their surroundings. Children spend a great part of their young lives in school rooms. Their school environment is a major influence in their lives. It is only reasonable that every effort should be undertaken to make that environment as pleasing as possible. It is not "coddling" the kids; it is a part of educating good citizens. If a variety of colors in the classrooms, for example, stimulates interest and improves the lighting, it is worth the cost to make the change.

Advertising Butter

The cream producers, according to a news report, are prepared to finance an advertising campaign on behalf of butter and other dairy products. It is expected that next year, a $250,000 advertising campaign will be initiated. This is gratifying news if, as it seems to be, it indicates that the producers are abandoning something of their aloofness towards the facts of economic life.

The removal of the margarine ban was bound to come as the cost of living climbed. The dairy farmers undoubtedly had a strong argument in favor of retaining the ban but it lacked popular appeal. The simple fact that oleomargarine could be purchased for less than butter was sufficient to raise public opinion to the point where the legislators could no longer afford to ignore it.

The producers showed a lack of worldliness in their briefs on behalf of the ban. We were told of the importance of dairy herds to the farm economy, of the heavy employment dairy herds provided, and other demonstrable facts on behalf of continuing the margarine ban. But none of these arguments, as valid as they were, were acceptable at the bar of public opinion where the issue was settled. The fact that margarine cost less was all that was needed to force the decision.

If the decision to advertise means that the producers are prepared to sell their product on its merits, then it seems to us that they will be successful. Oleomargarine is not perfect by any means. If the advantages of butter are placed before the customer by proper advertising, more butter will be sold. But if the producers continue to argue on behalf of their product on grounds other than its own merit, there will be little advantage gained.

The state is the servant, not the master, of the people; the state is their guarantee against infringement on their rights, their agent in international and national issues; it is not the function of the state to assume the direction of those activities which rest on individual choice.

Emphasis On Canadianism

The resolutions passed by the Young Liberals at their national convention in Montreal indicate that their generation at least possesses a strong sense of Canadianism. It has been our frequent complaint that Canadians as a rule are inclined to think of themselves first by their ancestry and second by their country of birth or adoption. No country can ever achieve adulthood unless its people possess a strong sense of national attachment. So the decisions of the Young Liberals are welcomed as evidence of development in that direction.

There were three resolutions in particular. The first called for a national flag and anthem. The other two called for the observance of July 1 as "Canada Day" and the appointment of a Canadian as governor-general. We think the resolutions entirely sensible and worthy of early consideration by the government.

The national flag and anthem have been constant issues for the past few years and the arguments on their behalf well publicized. The Young Liberals suggest, in a departure from convention, that both flag and anthem symbolize "the present and future grandeur of Canada rather than her past, omitting any symbol of dependence or any colonial characteristic..." In their argument on behalf of "Canada Day", they note that the use of the word "Dominion" as used to describe July 1, "no longer corresponds to the degree of constitutional development to which we have now attained", and that the use of "Dominion" to describe Canada "has no legal existence in virtue of our constitution". The third resolution, the appointment of a Canadian as governor-general, speaks for itself.

There are many who decry the development of nationalism in Canada, seeing in it a threat to the commonwealth association. Theirs is an argument of sentiment, rather than sense. The best guarantee of maintaining the commonwealth association is in the increasing autonomy of the associates. The association is strengthened when the participants maintain it freely, for its own, demonstrable worth, than for reasons of sentiment only.

Combined Action

Postwar growth has strained municipal services. Nowhere has there been more difficulty than with the disposal of garbage. The common practice of dumping garbage in a distant field is no longer feasible. Land for that purpose is becoming increasingly rare, particularly towards the south end of the county, and the heavy volume of garbage dumped uses what space is available with great rapidity.

Vaughan, Markham and Richmond Hill all face the problem in their garbage disposal of what to do with it. Recently, the municipal governments of the three met to explore possibilities for combined action. The proposal was the erection of an incinerator with the three sharing the cost. It was sufficiently attractive to suggest an inspection trip to the United States where such a project has been successful. A report of the trip and an estimate of the advantages of such a project to the three will be given shortly.

The outcome of efforts to the south of them will be closely watched in Newmarket and Aurora which also have garbage disposal problems, immediate or potential. The two centres are close enough and large enough to warrant joint action in the construction of an incinerator. Possibly, some of the smaller centres would be interested.

Certainly there is no reason to believe that the unsightly dumps which now serve for garbage disposal will be permitted indefinitely, not with the heavy amount of garbage to be disposed of at the present time. Combined action to provide an incinerator, and other services too where needed, seems the reasonable answer.

Letters to the Editor

The editor: A great many people who received their telephone bills today with an enclosed schedule of proposed new rates, will wonder why the Bell Telephone Company, in order to secure a 20.6% increase in gross income, demands a rate increase for business telephones of approximately 63% in Toronto and Hamilton, 52% in Brantford, 50% in Brampton, 61% in Newmarket and so on down the line. In several cases the device adopted of jumping the exchange group two stages, as in the case of Aurora from group IX to group VII, so that people now paying a flat rate of $2.85 monthly, will now pay $5 for the same service, an increase of 75%.

Office Cat reports Catnips By Ginger

Bits of old England have been dug up recently, some of the bits dating back 10,000 years, they say. Dr. Grahame Clark, an archaeological expert, says in a recent announcement to the Prehistoric Society, that the finds were thrilling. The Prehistoric Society, not an association of ancient monsters, is a group of people in England who are interested in what people dig up.

The recent diggings in Britain have revealed valuable information on that period of the Stone Age when Britain first became separated from Europe. Barbed points like harpoons, shaped from deer antlers, and many other relics of primitive life of that time have been found.

Six feet below the surface, a layer of branches and brushwood was first uncovered which had evidently formed the rough flooring for a prehistoric camp. Axes, scrapers, amber ornaments and stone beads were unearthed in addition to the harpoons. All were in a remarkable state of preservation after being buried 10,000 years.

In the last 25 years, scattered traces of those who lived in Britain in the years following the great Ice Age have been found. Experts say that these recent relics will do much to extend the world's knowledge of how life was lived by the original British Islanders.

It's hard to say when people first started digging as they do. The bones of cave men have been found along with collections of fossils making it appear that they were collectors too. During the middle ages there was some interest in digging, most of the interest being in collecting rock fossils. These fossils are imprints in stone made by dead bugs or animals which died thousands of years ago. Modern scientists can tell how old rocks are by the kind of fossils in them. In some way geologists know whether one should drill for gold or oil. At the same time, scientists say they can tell how old the fossils are by the age of the rocks they are buried in. It sounds contradictory and hocuspocus to me.

An old fossil by the name of Professor Johannes Beringer of Wurzburg who lived in medieval times was a collector of these pieces of stone. Even though he was a pretty intelligent guy and an ardent collector, he was a bit in the dark about them compared to modern scientists. The old professor's students duped him into describing as Class A fossils, all sorts of odd objects which they had made and "planted" in the professor's favorite collecting spots.

His Lithographia wurzburgensis, published in 1726, contained the figures of many of the spurious fossils. He discovered the hoax later when his students overplayed their hand and planted the professor's name in the rocks.

This was too much of a strain for old Beringer's credulity. He realized all his earlier errors and he started buying up all copies of his publication. He was reasonably successful because today it is a collector's item.

It is said that some of the actual faked fossil specimens still can be seen in the museum at Wurzburg. And to top off the sad story of old Professor Beringer, his family had his Lithographia wurzburgensis reprinted after his death as a curio, to their great good fortune.

By way of communication of the back line fence, back concession heard that his top six inches is not going over with the farmers. We started out to try and get some new subjects to write about.

We found that we have some smart farm cats and these cat stories would make interesting reading. But we find that Mrs. Colville's high brow cats have exclusive rights on all cat stories. The beauty of nature is Golden Glow's. With a wonderful memory and power of description, Golden Glow can build a word picture. You can almost hear the birds sing and smell the flowers. And her description of the Santa Claus parade needs no comment.

We know that we would do well in writing sports because we can always tell the ungame or referee where he is wrong, especially if the decision is against the home team. Sports editor Haskett comes out in the country to reports. Now if Haskett would leave his official note-book and pencil at home he would pass as a brother farmer just over to see the game.

In the days of seven-man hockey and 14 men on a small ice surface, we witnessed our first hockey game by way of the knot hole at the west end of the old rink. One smart boy found how to open the sliding doors at the side of the rink. Then came George Robitaille with the broom and what George would do if he caught us! In those days there was no free skating for the children. Many little boys and girls, when George's back was turned, slipped in for a free skate. Having in later years become better acquainted with George we know there was nothing that happened around the old rink that George did not know.

Now this Centre boy from Aurora, we note that he reports plowing matches and horse breeding. We don't blame him for wanting to put in some real news. In the days of seven-man hockey in the Metropolitan league, Newmarket could stop Aurora around anytime and all the time. The Aurora team was very discouraged so Newmarket let Aurora take the cup one year. The following year, when Newmarket went down to being the cup boys, Aurora gave up the cup gracefully with a goodly number of eggs and vegetables.

Back Concession would like to congratulate editor William Fowler on his reporting on catnips. Jack Smith, M.P., covers politics. Now if Mr. Smith would come out in Jay farm clothing suit, he would be heard as a true countryman. It would be well to stand at the rear of the group for some of the boys may be throwing tobacco and it would be dangerous out in front. We note the member for North York's name appears on the roster list.

One subject we would like to write about is the ladies. Such lovely equations they walk on the boards. We have the Women's World and what a lot of interest in women. The ladies are well looked after.

Now comes your boy. Why would you and women spend time writing the photo for someone else to do it? Back again. We must take a night out from the farm and go and see a game.

Child psychology is something we do know about. Mother and the school teacher with both sides of the razor strip and a good strong arm. Our school teacher had a hardwood pointer. My boy that teacher could dry clean one side of the boys' trousers. And here is something we could never understand. No matter how much that teacher whaled us boys we always thought her tops. We will have to leave the child training to Mrs. Bowman.

Rural news comes from almost every school section in the county. To people living away from home these items are a real letter. We are at the end of our space and we have not gotten around to Ginger and the editor. These two will have something to answer for next week. Cheer-io.

Back Concession would like to congratulate editor William Fowler on his reporting on catnips. Jack Smith, M.P., covers politics. Now if Mr. Smith would come out in Jay farm clothing suit, he would be heard as a true countryman. It would be well to stand at the rear of the group for some of the boys may be throwing tobacco and it would be dangerous out in front. We note the member for North York's name appears on the roster list.

One subject we would like to write about is the ladies. Such lovely equations they walk on the boards. We have the Women's World and what a lot of interest in women. The ladies are well looked after.

Now comes your boy. Why would you and women spend time writing the photo for someone else to do it? Back again. We must take a night out from the farm and go and see a game.

Child psychology is something we do know about. Mother and the school teacher with both sides of the razor strip and a good strong arm. Our school teacher had a hardwood pointer. My boy that teacher could dry clean one side of the boys' trousers. And here is something we could never understand. No matter how much that teacher whaled us boys we always thought her tops. We will have to leave the child training to Mrs. Bowman.

Rural news comes from almost every school section in the county. To people living away from home these items are a real letter. We are at the end of our space and we have not gotten around to Ginger and the editor. These two will have something to answer for next week. Cheer-

io.

Beal it, that was a MOOSE call!

OTTAWA LETTER

by
"Jack" Smith, M.P.
North York

Combines have been the subject of a lot of consideration here this week—not combines used in harvesting crops, but combines in restraint of trade, and combines which by monopoly seek to exploit the public.

The Minister of Justice has introduced amendments to the present Combines Investigation Act. The bill proposes a number of clauses intended to remove certain procedural difficulties which have hampered the enforcement of the act in the past. The whole aim of the Amendments is to plug holes which have in the past made successful prosecutions difficult.

The question of the operation of combines first came before parliament in 1889 when there was some question as to the operations of those then engaged in the sale of oatmeal, sugar, stoves and binder twine. The first anti-combines act was passed in that year. There have been many changes in the act, but the problem of combating price-fixing against the public interest is still with us as evidenced by the amendments now being considered.

The former combines commissioner, F. A. McGregor, who resigned because of a difference with the government over his report on the operations of the milling industry, is well known to many in North York. He was for many years private secretary to Mackenzie King and campaigned with the former premier in North York on many occasions.

Rent Control

The relaxing of regulations governing rent control caused quite a furore here last week. The move was in line with government policy of decontrol in a gradual and orderly manner.

A few years ago there were government controls on wages, and prices on a wide range of goods. These controls have now disappeared, leaving rental control the sole survivor of the major controls. Having abandoned other controls the government decided that the time had come for a modification of rental control regulations.

Naturally they do not suit everyone and the opposition parties have been critical of government action.

However, the government had to face the fact that the housing shortage is still acute in some sections of Canada and therefore retain rental control, but at the same time take steps to extend some relief to owners of property who were suffering from discrimination. It is just another step along the road to complete decontrol, which likely will come before very long unless the provinces decide to step into the housing control field. The whole matter of whether the control of housing is within federal jurisdiction at this time has been submitted to the supreme court for a ruling. The government takes the view that a housing emergency still exists in Canada and therefore the federal government is justified in acting under the War Measures Act as long as the provinces refuse to assume the responsibility. If this view is upheld by the Supreme Court federal control will likely continue at least through 1950.

Dominion Conference

The constitutional changes before parliament propose to give the parliament of Canada the right and power to amend our constitution on federal matters. The constitutional changes which involve other than matters under federal jurisdiction will be discussed at Dominion-Provincial Conference which will begin January 10.

Representatives of all ten provinces will attend for conference with representatives of the government of Canada.

Some recent Dominion-Provincial conferences have not been too successful but we hope the 1950 conference will be less political and get down to the serious business of facing our national problems without too much concern for provincialism or political advantage.

Budget Adopted

The budget debate ended suddenly last week. The Abbott budget was adopted by the house without a formal division, and while the official opposition presented an amendment, they did not even ask for a vote of the members. This was, as far as can be ascertained, the first time in history of parliament that a budget was adopted without even the formality of a vote.

Industrial Expansion

Canada's growing manufacturing industries had their biggest year in history in 1948. They turned out products with a gross value of $1,800,887,000—nearly $950 for every man, woman and child in the country. The value of production was 17 percent higher than in 1947, itself a record year.

Record Vote

A record number of Canadians, 5,903,570, voted in the June 27 federal election, Nelson Castonguay, the chief electoral officer reported to the house this week. That was roughly 600,000 more than voted in the 1945 election.

There were 7,893,425 eligible voters, about 900,000 more than in 1945. A total of 54,600 ballots were rejected, 4,483 fewer than in 1945.

There was an increase too, in the number of voters who actually voted. Nearly 75 percent of the eligible voters cast their ballots, roughly one percent more than in 1945 and slightly higher than the long-term average.

Footie-Notes
BY WILLIAM FOOTE
AURORA EDITOR

Friday nights, Bert Mayrand, proprietor of the Greystone, turns his establishment over to the teen crowd. In the formal atmosphere of the Greystone they consume refreshments at nearly cost prices and dance to a large stack of records provided by Mr. Mayrand. Mr. Mayrand has made it clear that this privilege is contingent upon the decorous behavior of the attending fellows and girls.

Held for the first time last Friday, the evening was a complete success. Thoughts now run to the formation of a regular club for each Friday "do". This represents a substantial effort on the behalf of our youth by Mr. Mayrand, and is deserving of wholehearted support.

Late last week a group of tenants in a small Aurora apartment narrowly missed coal gas asphyxiation. Luckily, the fumes were detected early in the evening, the Aurora fire department called out and the trouble eliminated.

This near-tragedy was preventable according to the Aurora fire department. Carelessness had permitted the flues in the apartments to become plugged while remodelling work was in progress.

The Aurora fire department considers fire prevention and the prevention of accidents such as the above to be of prime importance. This is the duty of each citizen, not only to himself, but to his community. The individual must exercise great care and discretion in building and remodeling if he is to discharge this duty properly. When Aurora retains a building inspector, he should be charged with the inspection of all shared dwellings for possible hazards to life.

Sunday afternoon saw the official opening and dedication of the Canadian Legion's new Legion Hall in Aurora. Following a parade to the cenotaph, Legion members returned to the hall where the Hon. Col. Arthur Welsh, provincial secretary for the province of Ontario, commended the members of Branch 385 on the construction of their new building. We can only echo his sentiments. The members of Branch 385 have toiled long and hard in completing their project. Fighting an uphill battle, their efforts have been crowned with success. Congratulations!

Optimists Climax Big Week With Safety Show, Parade

Keswick—Optimist club president Clayton Purdy headed a delegation on Tuesday, Nov. 8, to the charter night of the Optimist club of Newmarket and reported back to his club that the Newmarket boys put on a wonderful show and challenged Keswick club for top spot in this district for club accomplishments.

Rev. George Trimble replaced John Collingwood Reed as guest speaker at the Optimist dinner on Wednesday, Nov. 9. The guests were treated to fine musical entertainment by a group of six young people from Newmarket who won Gold Medal at the C.N.E. for singing. They were directed by Herman Fowler, choir master of Newmarket Trinity United church.

The oyster supper and dance on November 11 was a great success. The Optimist Dodge was won by Joe Laird, Blenheim, who is well known to Optimists everywhere as extension counsellor. He or-

KESWICK

A happy birthday dinner was held at Mrs. Etta Wilder's home on her birthday, Nov. 11. Her four daughters were there with their families to celebrate the event. They are Mrs. Gould and daughter of Beeton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hebdon and three children of Guelph, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Wilson, Toronto, and Mr. and Mrs. Aylward Marritt and son and daughter of Sutton West. Mr. and Mrs. Hebdon remained for a few days.

Mrs. J. VanNorman, Mrs. Jack Cameron and Miss B. Terry spent last Thursday in Lindsay.

The November W.C.T.U. meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Freeman Pollock. The meeting opened with an earnest devotion period, following which was given the history of the founding of the W.C.T.U. by Mrs. D. McGenerty which was very interesting. The rest of the meeting was taken up with reports of three ladies who attended the recent meeting in Massey Hall. They were Mrs. Frank Marritt, Mrs. (Rev.) Campbell and Mrs. Perry Winch who were able to give first-hand information. Several thousand women attended this meeting and we are grateful to these ladies for their splendid report. We are hoping that many of the beneficial resolutions of that meeting in Massey Hall will be adopted. The next meeting of Keswick W.C.T.U. will be held at the home of Mrs. Orville King in January.

Wreaths were placed at the foot of the large white cross by the Province of Ontario, Town of Sutton, Sutton Legion, Township of Georgina, and Optimist club of Keswick.

Mr. Walter Nelson, a member of the Queen's Own, entertained the band and all veterans after the service and his hospitality was greatly appreciated.

On Wednesday evening, Nov. 23, the hockey club is holding a dance in the Memorial centre. Miller's Orchestra will provide music for both modern and old-time dancing. Many novelties and surprises are being planned. If you don't dance, come anyway. It's worth twice the price of the admission to see some of our oldsters enjoying themselves in old-time squares.

Calling all boys! Don't miss Friday night games at the Memorial centre.

Brownhill News

Miss Angela Crissitti celebrated her fourth birthday Nov. 9 with a lovely party, a birthday cake, candies, sandwiches, and games. Masters Arthur Tuer, Henry King, Miss Ethel King and many others called to help Angela have a very happy fourth birthday. The evening ended with ice cream and soft drinks.

Saturday, Nov. 12, the home of Mr. George Leitch was open house for a lovely shower and dance for his grandson, Jack, and newly acquired granddaughter, Gerlie (Sedore). Many useful gifts were received and a splendid evening enjoyed by all. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Leitch are now residing at Norland, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilnot Riddell, Newmarket, spent one afternoon last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos York. Miss Shirley Sedore had the weekend off and Mrs. Henry King took care of Mrs. Sedore while Shirley was away.

Mr. Herbert Frederickson was visiting a few homes around Brownhill. The folk of Brownhill wish Mr. Frederickson a complete recovery real soon and wish to praise Elma King of Keswick for her help. We need more folk who are good to look after and take care of the sick and afflicted.

Messrs. Henry King and Bruce Longhurst have gone to the city to work on a new project.

A week ago, Mr. Bill Robinson, who was a prisoner of war in Germany for a lengthy period, received his medals for his achievements and has a large number of them. Yes, even Brownhill has its war heroes.

Mrs. Miller Longhurst and Elaine were surprised last week when Mrs. Ott. Kidd and Mrs. Jim Heaton, Toronto, called and spent the day with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Crissitti are getting their house repaired and covered with Insul-Bric after the fire two weeks ago which required the service of the Sutton fire department. The firemen had to answer two calls. Mr. and Mrs. Crissitti wish to thank the Sutton fire department and all those who tried to save their home.

Mr. Charles Mitchell's eye is getting better after being punctured with a screw driver while repairing a car.

Mr. Hemingway of Wildersome Farm has his fall plowing done.

Mrs. Sarah Miller has had to go away to have a rest. Mrs. Miller hasn't been well for quite a time and the doctor said that absolute rest was required.

Mrs. Roy Crouch has been having a quilting party, Mrs. Charles Mitchell, Mrs. Amos York and Mrs. Wilnot King all assisting.

Mr. Roy Crouch has gone north deer hunting accompanied by Mr. Fred Rye, Pefferlaw.

Church and Sunday school next Sunday morning commencing at 10 a.m.

KETTLEBY

On Tuesday, Nov. 8, the monthly meeting of Christ church Ladies' Guild was held at the home of Mrs. Jack Archibald, Potageville. Most members were present. The meeting was opened by Rev. F. V. Abbott with a prayer and reading of a portion of Scripture. After which, he told us more about the denary project providing hospital equipment for India. A very appetizing lunch was served by the hostess.

We were all very sorry to hear of the accident to Mr. Tom Weedon and all wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. R. Shipley is in Wellesley hospital where she had an operation on her foot. Everyone is hoping this will be a permanent cure so that she will enjoy perfect health.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Black attended the Thanksgiving service at Schomberg United church on Sunday, Nov. 13, afterwards visiting at the home of their daughter, Mrs. H. Dale.

Services next Sunday, Nov. 20, at Christ church will be: Sunday-school at 2 p.m. and evening service at 3 p.m.

ZEPHYR
Mrs. Jas. Galbraith, Mrs. Jas. Lockie, Mrs. A. B. Lockie and Mrs. Weller attended the concert and supper at Keswick United church on Monday evening. All were delighted to hear Miss Edna Jacques, elocutionist, and Miss Holborn, soloist.

High spot of Optimist week in Keswick was the bicycle parade held Saturday afternoon when the safety dog Kneehi demonstrated safety lessons. Constable Fogg of the Toronto police force gave a lesson on bicycle traffic to the children.

The ingenious bicycle decorations were judged by K. C. D. Main, president of Sutton Kinsmen club, John Meyer, editor of The Newmarket Era and Express, and Ted Leonard, Toronto Star correspondent.

First prize went to Michael Sinclair, second, Eddie Babin, third, Helen Sinclair. All three were from Keswick school. Prizes were donated by Tomlinson Transport and The Newmarket Era and Express.

Honorable mention was given to Patricia Porter, Deer Park school; Keith Winch, Belhaven; Bobby Findley, Jersey; Raymond Pollard, Keswick; Peggy Carr, Keswick; Joe Closs, Mount Pleasant; Norman Stinson, Keswick. These will be sent a flashlight to fasten to their bicycles as a special recognition by the Optimist club.

The meet was so well received by children and grown-ups, the club plans a repeat in the spring on a warmer day.

KESWICK

We regret that we are losing Mr. and Mrs. Metcalf from our village. They have sold their drug store business to Mr. Agar of Toronto.

Among the young people who visited their homes here last weekend were Ruth Mary Winch, Mary Morton and the Campbell sisters.

Mrs. Etta Wilder entertained her family last Friday, Nov. 11. Remembrance Day services were held last Sunday in Keswick United church at 11 a.m. and in the Memorial Arena at 2.30 p.m. Both services were beautiful and the address provided much food for thought.

Mr. Jack Marritt of Edmonton is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Marritt.

The W.A. supper and concert on Monday night was a very successful event. The food provided by our ladies was excellent and the entertainment provided by Miss Holborn and Miss Edna Jacques will long be remembered by all who attended.

A group of our ladies attended a W.M.S. luncheon meeting in Bedford Park United church on Tuesday, Nov. 15, and were entertained at supper by Mrs. V. H. Atchison.

Weavers' Guild Plans Uniform Judging

Mrs. Ted Mitchell, Newmarket, presided at a business session of the Guild of Canadian Weavers, held at Carleton United church, Toronto, on Thursday, Nov. 10. Miss Carrie Oliphant presided.

There are about 300 members of the guild across Canada and similar meetings are taking place in each of the other nine provinces this month. Plans are being formulated whereby a system of judging can be established for all weaving across Canada. Each group will forward its findings to Miss Wini- ed Sauvage and from the combined efforts it is hoped that the human qualities of weaving may be restored.

At present British Columbia is leading with the weavers of recorded first place for quality of workmanship. The Ontario group is taking second place. The plan suggested at the Ontario meeting is that of rotating the

Barrie Entertains Neighboring B. & P. Clubs

The Business and Professional Women's club of Barrie entertained members of six neighboring B. and P. clubs at dinner on Sunday, Nov. 6.

The guest speaker was Miss Sally Butler of Indianapolis, President of the International Federation. She was introduced by Mrs. Ethel Armstrong-Collins, Toronto.

Miss Butler spoke on the International board meeting held in June at Helsinki, Finland, where she acted as chairman. By comparing existing conditions in Finland with those in Canada, Miss Butler drew attention to the freedom and liberty which are ours to enjoy and advised a course of action far removed from communism. She praised the solid integrity and the trustworthy spirit of the Finnish people, but said that at present their government controls about 85 percent of their personal incomes.

Attending from Newmarket were associate members Vera Brown and Joan Bosworth and members Norine Ayers, Marjorie Oliver, Dorothy Bowman, Jean Elines, Vi Dales, Peggy Ward and Isabelle Garrioch.

Dramatic Club Enjoys Increased Attendance

The raised seats at the back of the hall will be held for reserve sale at a charge of 50 cents per person. Reserved seats may be bought by contacting any member of the Dramatic club or by phoning 187R.

There will be a general meeting of the Dramatic club at the clubrooms November 22 at 8 p.m. when urgent problems will be discussed. All members are expected to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Sunday-School Teachers Attend Deanery Meeting

The annual meeting of the West York Deanery Sunday-school teachers was held at Trinity parish hall, Thornhill, on Tuesday evening, Nov. 15. Attending from Newmarket were Mrs. Grant Dillane, Miss Joan Fairley and Rev. and Mrs. J. T. Rhodes. The parishes represented included Sutton, Bradford, Richmond Hill, Thornhill, King, Schomberg and Newmarket with about 35 present.

The special speaker was Rev. C. T. Crosshwaite, rector of St. Albans church. Rev. Crosshwaite said that the success of the church depended on the Christian out-thinking, out-living and if necessary out-dying the non-Christian world. He said that it is not so much what we say, but how we live that counts. You can't teach to others things which you are not practising yourself. How many Christians thumb through, study and really know their Bible as well as communists know Karl Marx' theories?

Mr. Crosshwaite stressed the importance of ample preparation and a complete understanding of the theme of the lesson in Sunday-school work as well as the need for proper equipment and a church library.

The committee which consists of Mr. Spillette and Reeve John Hostawser, recommended that the details of the project be studied further by the committee and the county council during the year 1950. It recommended that a further report be brought in before the November session of 1950 in order that, when the project is approved, application may be made to the 1951 council for funds to proceed.

The extension will greatly improve the living conditions of aged people at the home, Mr. Spillette said. The one-story building is much safer and allows aged people to get around more. Other projects will probably be undertaken throughout the province similar to this, he said.

accommodate more types of aged persons. At present no senile or infirmity cases are admitted to the home, he said. With new buildings, persons on the same mental and physical level would be grouped together in wings. Among the requirements of the plans are a female ambulatory wing, male ambulatory wing, senile wing and infirmity wing as well as kitchen, stores, laundry and heating plant.

Mrs. William Woods

Mrs. Phoebe Esther Woods, who celebrated her 102nd birthday on Sept. 1, died in Toronto on Nov. 15. Mrs. Woods was born on a farm near Roche's Point and following her marriage at 22 she moved to a farm in a neighboring community. The farm where she and her husband worked and reared their eight children is now the Eastbourne Golf club.

Mrs. Woods was active and alert until a few days ago. Her husband predeceased her 32 years ago.

Since store shopping was impossible for her in those days, Mrs. Woods spun and carded the wool from sheep grown on the farm to provide clothing for her family. She enjoyed motoring though she never travelled by train. The only movie she saw did not thrill her. However, she was a radio hockey fan.

Mrs. Woods recalled days when Indians were not uncommon, and would walk into their home carrying their knives and lie down on the floor of the kitchen.

Surviving is one daughter, Mrs. John Woods, Aurora, three sons, Edward, New Toronto, Frederick and Arthur, Sudbury. Seven grandchildren, 14 great-grandchildren, and three great-great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Mary Fee

Mrs. Fee was born in East Gwillimbury in 1860. Her husband, James Fee, predeceased her.

For the past 12 years Mrs. Fee made her home with her son, Harry Fee, who predeceased her in 1947. She enjoyed exceptionally good health until two months ago, when she suffered a fracture resulting from a fall.

Her daughter, Mrs. A. M. Fitzgerald (May), Los Angeles, Cal., attended the funeral.

Requiem high mass was sung by Rev. T. J. McCabe. Rev. Melville Bolan was also present in the sanctuary and conducted the prayers at the graveside.

Funeral service was held at St. John's church, conducted by Rev. T. J. McCabe. Interment was at St. John's cemetery.

IT'S A Woman's World

By CAROLINE E. ION

For sometime we have viewed with alarm the policy of allowing a cat the freedom of the press, and with the November 10 issue of "Catnips by Ginger", our worst suspicions were justified. Imagine the nerve of some people's cats to criticize articles which fellow columnists have written about their trips.

It is still not too late, Ginger, to admit you are a novice in the cosmopolitan art of travel. The ill-fated trip to Peterboro doesn't reveal a trace of the experience with which Ginger credits himself. Consider the story point by point. . . . After viewing the car (and we use the term loosely), we hesitate to accept the idea that he could have travelled at "such a break-neck speed that there was no scenery to be seen". (Should we be complete cads, girls, and report him to the highway authorities for observation?)

Then there is this business about the cold having steamed up the windows too much. Where is that experience of which you were boasting, just a few paragraphs ago, Ginger? Didn't the dealer, when he sold you that model A or reasonable facsimile of same, tell you about the facts of driving? Did he not mention that little item about keeping one's windows open a fraction of an inch to prevent steaming up, old boy? But of course, you kids who get around would know all this.

Running out of gas is an unpardonable crime and quite pointless in this case for it was an old married couple who were making the trip. Why we haven't done that since away back in 1947 when we "hit" Toronto at night after all the filling stations were closed. But that is another story. How could Ginger have seen any scenery even if the windows had not been steamed up when his eyes were glued in anxiety to the fuel gauge? In that statement alone, poor Ginger reveals the newness of his arrival in the field of travel. If he had wanted to squeeze in with the other columnists of The Era and Express on the Travelogue, he should have only admitted his lack of experience and any of the more-travelled members of the press would have come to his assistance.

One doesn't make such a hazardous, lengthy trip as that embarked upon by Ginger and his spouse without much preparation. Maps must be scanned, data collected on locations of filling stations and information obtained from the weather bureau. What a shame that Ginger could not have made the trip to Peterboro with us during June, 1947. The day was warm with a faint breeze making the trip more pleasant. The roadside was bordered with a profusion of wild flowers and everywhere was the fresh greenness of early summer. It was a glorious day. (It must have been for we had a picnic lunch by the Peterboro lift locks). If he had accompanied us on that trip he would have enjoyed the exciting crossing of Lake Chemung on the old floating bridge.

It was quite an experience to hear the water splash up on the wheels of the car through the planks in the bridge and the suspense when we had to pull over into the little waiting places to allow another car to pass was heightened by the submergence of the bridge due to the increased weight of the second auto. One of the dailies in Toronto devoted an entire page last year to a description of this bridge accompanied by photographs, so the least we can do is to give it one paragraph.

Last summer when we revisited the lake we found that the bridge, the oldest and longest of its type in Canada, was being replaced by a causeway. No doubt, by this time the project will have been completed. The historic relic will live on in the memories of those who knew it or even visited it on a single occasion.

Yes, Ginger, those were both interesting trips and there was the one we made to the sixth and seventh concessions. We must tell you about that sometime.

There were several of our readers (four, in fact), who disagreed with our decision to give first place in the Singer showing of fall garments to Vic Higginson. Said they, one and all: "You asked if we thought Vic was the best model, so we decided to answer your question. Our vote goes to John Vandenberg." Think of that, even at a fashion show, it isn't a woman's world anymore.

THE HOMEWAKES

The Sunday Roast

A roast is frequently first choice for Sunday dinner. It need not be the most expensive cut to be attractive and appetizing. The end of the pork loin is always cheaper than the centre cut. The shoulder cuts from beef, veal, lamb and pork are excellent roasts. Some of the less tender cuts make choice pot roasts.

The method of cooking is as important as the cut of the meat. Cooking at moderate temperature, in dry heat, is recommended for tender cuts, to prevent undue shrinkage and to attain perfection of flavor and juiciness.

For Roasting:
Use moderate oven, 325 to 350 degrees, for the entire cooking period. Cook uncovered, fat side up. Do not add water. Add fat to lean roasts. Baste them occasionally during roasting. Place rolled or flat roast on a rack. Turn rolled roasts every half hour.

Cooking time varies with kind of meat, weight, thickness, shape or roast and proportion of bone and fat.
Whether meat is seasoned before or after roasting is unimportant. Flouring is optional. Let cooked roast stand in a warm place for a short time. This makes for more economical and easier carving. Moist heat is needed to improve the tenderness of cuts from the round, the rump and the fore quarter.

A pot roast, well browned and tender needs no apologies, especially if there is plenty of rich, brown gravy.

POT ROAST OF BEEF
(Blade, chuck, round, rump, shoulder or short rib.)
3 to 5 lbs. beef

1/2 to 1 cup hot water
Drege meat with seasoned flour. Brown well on all sides in a little hot fat in a heavy pot or Dutch oven. Place a rack under meat, add water, cover tightly and cook over low heat or in slow oven, 300 to 325 degrees, until meat is tender, allowing about 40 minutes per pound. Turn several times during cooking. Vegetables: carrots, celery, onions, potatoes, tomatoes, turnips, may be added during last hour of cooking. Use drippings in pan as base for gravy.

STUFFED FLANK STEAK
1 beef flank steak
1/2 cup chopped celery and leaves
1 small onion, chopped
4 tbsp. fat
1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
Salt and pepper to taste
1 cup water

Use one large or two small flank steaks. Sauté the celery and the onion in two tbsp. fat for a few minutes. Add the bread crumbs and season with salt and

by Don Graham

Everyone should bluff—sometimes!

Of course I do not approve of the kind of bluffing which conceals unworthy motives. But, in certain situations, I think it is desirable and even necessary to hide our real feelings from others.

For example, a doctor of my acquaintance always appeared to be in good spirits. Highly successful and widely beloved in his community, he radiated cheerfulness and goodwill toward all. And his conversation was invariably spiced with humorous comments and stories.

Yet for the last ten years of his life this man was suffering from an incurable and painful disease! No one except his wife knew his fatal secret—a secret he kept to the very end.

What a magnificent bluff! What an inspiring example for all of us to follow when we are ill, out of sorts, worried or depressed!

By the same token, surely it is also a good policy to conceal most of our minor disappointments, annoyances, and dislikes.

If you are at all concerned about your own or your family's financial security, do not conceal that fact from everyone. Confide in your life insurance agent. He's a trained and willing advisor who can help you build a sound financial plan for the future.

32 Days Left, Time To Start Looking For That Special Gift
By BETTY BRAMMER
Christmas is just 32 shopping days away. Doesn't seem possible does it? Now is the time to look around the shops in Newmarket for those special gifts.

— B —
A lovely compact seen in a Newmarket store that would delight any teen or twenty with a small gold ball with a chain from which the lipstick was attached. There were also other very smart enamelled compacts with a more sophisticated air that would be "just the thing" for the girl who has everything.

— B —
For a cosy evening at home with a book or your knitting, a warm housecoat is a must. Saw a wool plaid with red and black predominating, coachman style bodice, big lapels, covered buttons and what is so important, a "wrappable" skirt.

Are you one of those girls that should do her hair up every night? There is no getting away from it, pin curls are not very nice to sleep on. — There are some new plastic curlers now on sale that can be worn all night in comfort and in the morning your hair is soft and natural looking.

— B —
For carrying all the necessary things to parties and dances we saw a black suede carryall with gold trim on Main St. There were neat little compartments for comb, compact, lipstick, cigarettes and "mad money." The girl with one of these little party bags will really rate with her date. We have it from good authority that men do not like to have their pockets cluttered with lipstick and such.

The party season is getting into full swing now. For that special dress we saw a lovely creation in black taffeta with a very full skirt, portrait neckline with silk net inset. The feature of this dress was that it had a rhinestone necklace attached.

— B —
A tip from Betty: After you have finished powdering your face smooth a little beauty cream on your eyelids and eyebrows. It will make your eyes appear larger and more sparkling and give your eyebrows a neater line.

The Common Round...
By Isabel Inglis Colville
ONCE AGAIN

My going to the W.I. Toronto Area Convention began this year, as it has done in years gone by, the night before when I held a seance, complete with table thumpings, with the alarm clock. With painful exactness I set the hands of the alarm clock for 6:45 a.m. and composed myself for sleep, thinking a trifle smugly of all the things in readiness for the morning.

Then, just as a delicious drowsiness was creeping over me, seemingly without my own volition, I found myself sitting up in bed with the clock clapped to my bosom and everything on the table rattling from my wild grab.

"What's happened?" inquired a startled voice from the darkness. "The clock!" said I. "What clock—there aren't any at this time of year," said the sleepy voice. "The alarm clock," I told him heatedly. "Give it a chance," said the man of the house. "But it may go off," I informed him. "Why?" he wanted to know and as I couldn't think of a reason, I relinquished my enemy and fell into an uneasy sleep, haunted by ears that wouldn't stop for me and then, thinking I was in a plane, woke to find Duffy, the golden kitten, sitting on my chest purring ecstatically and rose up thankful that the clock had done its worst—or best—and that I was ready for whatever the day would bring.

No rush to catch a bus threw a shadow on our brightness, for Mr. Elgin Evans, with Archie for masculine fellowship underlook to convey his wife, Mrs. Shaw, Jean Williams and myself to the Royal York. What a morning! The sun touched with magic the leafless trees, brought out the vivid green of the wheat and laid a veil of enchantment even over commonplace things. Good company made the way all too short and when we reached our destination and the men went off to enjoy themselves on their way, we four women went through a turnstile into a woman's world.

Seeing old friends, registering, finding our way to the room made familiar through the years, we and hundreds of other W.I. members found seats and settled down to look, listen and learn. Owing to the fact that my feet, in most chairs, never touch the floor, my comfort is not as assured as it might be, but what are a couple of sleeping feet amongst so many not asleep?

The meeting was opened by the chairman, Mrs. Norman White, and began with God Save the King, O Canada and a sing-song led by Mrs. Clarence Graham and pianist Mrs. W. E. Kearney.

Everyone sang lustily whether they knew the song or not and then Mrs. White introduced Mrs. Fletcher, president of the F.W.I.O. who led a conference on Institute problems. Mrs. Fletcher spoke of the great things that can come from small beginnings as the Institute did.

She spoke of meeting Mrs. Sayre, international president of W.I. or their equivalents and told of Mrs. Sayre's first attempt in Iowa to form a farm women's organization in her neighborhood.

Those were the days of Model T Fords, with curtains, and being inspired by an address she had heard on what women can and should do, she packed the baby in a basket and with the older child beside her and her husband at home with the prospect of a cold dinner, she started off to enlist some neighbors in forming a group.

Judge of her surprise when at the first house she was met with, "I'd love to, but I haven't time," and nothing could make her think she had. Undismayed, a second woman was tried. "Oh," said she, "I'd love to, but I haven't enough education," never realizing that to join in this work would be to help educate herself. The third try brought forth the excuse, "John wouldn't like it."

A bit discouraged, with the old Ford curtains flap, flap, flap,

Used Language All Their Own
Billy, six years old, and Benny, seven years old, are brothers who have such a lingo of their own that no one else can understand their conversations with each other.

Frequently, parents prolong and encourage infantile speech or "baby talk" by imitating their young children. This does retard the child's speech progress—but in the case of Billy and Benny, the baby lingo they used was never imitated by their parents or even half-understood by them.

Benny was just beginning to imitate sounds when Billy was born and Billy's coos and gurgles seemed to interest Benny more than grown-up conversation. Benny imitated Billy and seemed to understand his wants and know how to please him better than anyone else. So the two brothers grew up in close association with each other, supplying each other with sufficient and satisfying conversational outlets in a little sphere of their own.

Young Hopefuls BY DOROTHY MUIR BOWMAN

By the time Billy and Benny were ready for school, they had quite a lingo of their own—a lingo that their parents couldn't half understand and one their teachers and classmates found impossible to interpret.

With effort plus on the part of Billy's and Benny's teachers, the brothers learned to pronounce words in their readers and to speak carefully when under strict supervision. However, as yet, these boys haven't carried their "good behaviour" speech outside the classroom, but persist in their careless lingo when talking to each other—and are seemingly content in each other's company since it is too much effort to make themselves understood by others.

At home, the parents should insist on correct pronunciation and enunciation; and thus continue the practice started at school. It is only by continued repetition of careful speech that slovenly speech habits can be overcome. Reading aloud at home is helpful, too. Both boys can, with care, read and speak intelligently. They must be encouraged to want to take that necessary care.

Twins sometimes have their own lingo. The most effective way to dispense with it seems to be to separate them for a time. In the case of Billy and Benny, they are old enough to be disciplined for careless speech by being separated for a portion of their free time until they learn to speak carefully to each other. It seems rather severe discipline—but breaking down old speech habits is a difficult undertaking. New and good speech habits can't be established while bad speech persists and is in more constant use than good speech.

Next Sunday, Nov. 20, will be the Sunday before Advent, commonly called "Stir-up Sunday" from the opening words of the collect for that day. It marks the end of the church's year. The churches of the Anglican Diocese are holding it as a Missionary Sunday. Rev. J. T. Rhodes, St. Paul's, Newmarket, will take the service at St. Mary's church, Schomberg, in the morning and Rev. F. The Woman's Auxiliary will be holding a corporate communion on or near St. Andrew's Day, it being observed by every branch in the Dominion since St. Andrew, the first missionary, is the patron saint of the Woman's Auxiliary to the Church of England in Canada.

The services at St. Paul's last Sunday marked Remembrance Day with suitable scripture lessons, hymns and anthems.

A.S. Ends Season With Win Over Oaklands

Aurora high school rugby team closed its season on Tuesday with a 17-2 win over Toronto DeLaSalle Oaklands. Aurora led all the way, 12-2 at halftime, and holding on grimly to their lead in the last quarter when DeLaSalle threatened through-out.

Rank's booting and the broken field running of Topper and Ross were stand-outs. Up front, Gilbert, Stocks, Lee and Etheridge did grand work in stopping the invaders.

Cheers, cheers! Won't be long now. Welding's done. Testing's begun. Welding was finished Saturday afternoon. Testing commenced early Monday evening. Score 15 leaks. Good, good, good. Professionals run that number or more on a job. Hadn't realized, and same goes for most of us, ordinarily ice company lets contract the welding. Cost of welding alone is anywhere from $1,000 to $1,500 at usual rate of 75 cents a weld. In this case there are approximately 2,000 welds, saving $1,500.

Voluntary work plus the unwilling aid of general manager Dewey Kuhns at the Canadian Hoffman Co. has kept the budget well below estimate to this point. That noteworthy saving the welders have contributed rates front page recognition. Those welders, by the way, so we won't forget their contribution, are Howard Newton, Morris Crowder and Bill Morritt. Backing them up was a host of workers led by Pat McLean and Les Woolven on the piping, Eddie Gibson, Geo. Watt, Geo. Stuart, Norm Tunney, Myron Spaulding, Joe Porritt and enough others to fill this column alone that have worked faithfully at the arena. Just over 70 voluntary workers is our count.

Now don't let anybody tell you those chaps are getting paid to do the job—they are not—they're doing it free, gratis, and the most they ask is that the boys and girls of town will have plenty of skating and time for hockey.

Can't say yes, can't say no, to those many queries as to the Metropolitan League status, whether O.H.A. will affiliate or not. Vice president Harold Rogers and your scribbler haven't been in touch with Geo. Panter, O.H.A. assistant secretary, as yet. Must get it done this week. Then we'll know the score and can plan accordingly.

Strong expressions both ways as to Woodbridge coming in. Canvassed several executives, even split for and against. Those against say stop at six. Seven teams would muck up the schedule. I'm for it. Let's get 'em in. Maybe an eighth team on the loose if we hit the right party.

Both east coast, new team to operate at Nobleton, and Naval Vets at Richmond Hill were on the ice Sunday at Stouffville. Sutton may hit the ice at Lindsay any day now. However the Greenshirts are anxious to get into Newmarket as is Bradford, as soon as ice is available. Spitfires are taking up gym and road work this week. Say men, want to get into shape fast—tell you what to do—join the sand shovellers and wheel barrow boys—when that job comes up. Know any better way?

Minor hockey. Sorry, laddies, can't give the complete picture. Looks like juvenile, midjet and bantam in O.H.A. Sponsors, Lions, Legion and Optimists respectively. Below bantam, pee-wee and school leagues. Juvenile and midjet double-headers Tuesday, so why not bantam before the intermediate games on Thursday? No reason now with artificial ice. Pee-wee and school leagues Saturday mornings. No more disappointments or postponements now. Just a suggestion—why not call the Lions, Optimists, Legion, Mr. H. A. Jackson and Frank Hollingsworth from the schools together and set up the complete schedule?

Olympic Wrestling Capt. Coaches Aurora Club

Aurora Wrestling club organized by J. Flicker and M. Newton, are now being given coaching assistance by Harry Peace, well known amateur wrestler and captain of Canada's wrestling team at the last Olympic games.

There are about 17 boys in the club and they train Tuesday nights and Saturday afternoons at Aurora high school. At their meeting of October 6 they elected J. Flicker president and M. Newton vice president. Training was switched from Hart Manufacturing (Canada) Ltd., to the high school, and Harry Peace brought three amateur wrestlers from Toronto West End Y.M.C.A. for a work-out with the Aurora boys.

On October 29 Mr. Peace took the boys down to King City where another club has been formed. A return invitation was extended on November 1.

The Aurora club hopes to have enough experience for contests in the spring to show the town what progress it has made and that wrestling is also a spectator sport.

By PIN-BOY

Success story: from last season's near tail-enders to front runners this year. That's the Legion bowlers, in front now with 19 points in town league. Hissey's at 18 and Denne Electric and Combines with 17 each are right up there in the rush for top. Sid. Simmonds' 346 single and Roy Gibson's 778 total triple are standing the Reg. Wilson has compiled a 224 average over 15 games. Office Specialty bopped the Bankers for four points Tuesday. Hissey's and Legion picked up three each. Geo. Watt pitched three fine games (308, 245, 262) for an 815 total to lead the Specialty to their four points. Del. Pemberton of Meteors was next in line with 717, (268, 203, 246). Roy Keffer (Denne's) 660, Sid Simmonds (Specialty) 647, Moe Hall (Bankers) 640, Lorne Keffer (Meteors) 616, wound up in that order.

Welcomed to the column this week are the V.L.A. bowlers. Pin-ups skyrocketed into a tie with Scatter-pins for league leadership. It's 21 points each. Timber-ribs made a gain to boost their count to 14. Tom Sadeski clipped the pins for a 545 total for two games including a 303 single to head the men's section. Vi Curtis registered a 307 for two games with a high single of 187. Tom Sadeski still leads the men's averages with 207 and Arlene McTavish, the ladies with 160. Bruce Calverly has a 185 average and Margaret Jack 154 for runner-up position.

Two sweeps were registered with the Hoffman bowlers last Friday. Sheet Metal and Press Shop went all hog to kalsomine Machine Shop and Vorlone. The sweeps shot Sheet Metal into the league top with 28, Press Shop 25, Stores 22, Machine Shop 13, and last, Vorlone with 10. Frank Vandenberg paced the individual shooters with high mark of 795, opening with a 349 hog then fading off to 279 and 167. Bob LeSchien crashed the pins for 676 including a 305 single. Bob Wallace contributed 649 to set the pace with the Vorlone and Ivan Ruddock pencilled a 632 triple.

Stan. Smith showed the way in Davis Leather circuit. Stan. broke to the top pushing his total to 640 starting off at a 199 pace and getting better as he went along at 213 and 228. Other Tanners in the 600 circle were Bud Pettit 625, Henry Burke 622, Ned Tansley 620, and Frank Bothwell 617. Harry Thoms 36, and Len Burling's team 35, are making a neck and neck race of it for top. Walt Groves pitched into third by kicking the stuffings out of Geo. Smart's crew to take all the points Wednesday. Groves have 21 and Smart's 20.

The scrap for top in the Office Specialty officemen's league grows hotter by the week. Burch's have 14, Peppiatt's 13, Bennett's 12, Scott's 11 and out of the hunt at the moment, Phinister's 6. Jack Adams hopped in front of his mates with a 651 triple (215, 238, 198). Bob Pfeilhard fired games of 143, 204 and 267 for 634, that latter mark being high single for the evening. Art Peppiatt racked up a 258 single to run second in that section.

George Out On Limb, Picks Spits To Top Metro League

By GEORGE HASKETT

Hockey openers are due the earliest in history in these parts. Custom following the Hot Stove League is to climb out on a limb early and make prediction how the teams will finish in the Trolley Loop. Not wanting to earn a hog town rep for the Hub but will give it to you straight. Away out the limb we go and hand you the saw—this is the Hoffman Spitfires' year. The North York Metropolitan Hockey Trophy comes this way come spring. Said that before, but this year can't fail.

What crust, what dreams, what imagination, you'll hear Aurora, Bradford and Sutton say. New teams, East Coast and Naval Vets, haven't got into the swing of things—but they'll learn the red hot rivalry going up here fast.

Why the Spitfires? They should be stronger than last year with new faces, strong coaching and executive power. Artificial ice gives ample time for practices. That totals up to a championship.

Sutton Greenshirts won't be pried loose from their clinging hold on the cup without chopping off their hands. Greenshirts have lost their all-star pipe minder, Bob Winch, who is attending agricultural college and will have trouble finding a replacement of Bob's calibre. Rest of team is probably intact.

Bradford may prove the surprise packet with a new sponsor this year, Murrell Motors. Don Willson is coach. Evan Stevens, the Collings Bros. "Mutt", Bruce and Tito, Joe Magani form nucleus. Aurora's black and gold is the biggest question mark. Harold Rogers and his aide-de-camp, Dinty Moore, aren't giving away any secrets.

Looked over the situation at Stouffville Sunday and while they weren't signing anybody up, nor were they turning down any dividual scoring Monday evening with the ladies, both finishing up with fine 634 three-game scores. Ella combined 173, 260 and 198 for her total and our softball star proved she's no slouch in the bowling game with 200, 263 and 166 games. Other good scores were turned in by Edna McGrath 624, Marion Stark 610, Elsie Cline 601, Mary Osborne 598 and Hester Clark 598. Jokers, Aces and Snoots sent the Huskies, Rookies and Deuces away home empty-handed in the point parade.

Edna McGrath pitched a healthy three games of 249, 263, and 182 for a 694 count to eclipse her mates in the Thursday night. Norma Peel counted 529 and Jean Wrightman 525 to finish in that order.

Slick Chicks are it in the Friday night mixed league. They're 26. Eager Beavers 21. Sinkers 20, and Hep Cats are anything but hep with unlucky 13. Earl Simmerson copped the men's division high both in single and triple on a 332 and 564. Grace Walthe's 204 was top single effort and Helen Stockwood compiled a 492 to lead the ladies' section.

Laura Whitfield was back in her accustomed spot after a week or two absence to top the Office Specialty ladies' league with 593 (193, 232, 168). Joyce Vandenberg was keenest competition with 558, then Jean Peppiatt 545 and Doris Patterson 505.

LOSERS SWEATER

Paul Munn, young goal tender of the Aurora Junior Hawks, lost his red and blue leather jacket in the vicinity of Highway Landing Community Hall last Friday night. The winners are those of the Barrie Flyers Junior B team and he is most anxious to recover it. His phone number is Aurora 113.

TO RESUME

(Continued from Page 1) the new section and also for carpenters. If you care to assist in the latter just bring along a hammer and saw any night.

Front section of the arena now has a roof on. It's a success for visitors at all hours of the day and evening. We can begin to see the complete picture. Coming up, one first class arena we can all be proud of.

A.H.S. Tops On Rugby Field

Aurora high rules the rugby roast in these parts coach Frank Greigore points out with pride as the '49 gridiron season closes in North York, as elsewhere. Aurora belted Fred Speer's purple and gold warriors from Newmarket, 20-6 and 14-1 and smothered Oveal Ewart's Sutton Gryphs 17-0 and 24-6. In exhibition tilts against better equipped and more experienced teams, Aurora lost a close one to St. Michael's College seconds, and won against DeLaSalle Oaklands. The Sutton team has no football shoes, and the games against them are played in running shoes, which is a deterrent to sound football. To those critics who have tried to keep rugby out of the schools on the grounds of cost, and injuries, let's point out, that over the season aside from bruises and charlie horses, the only serious injury was a broken nose sustained by one of the Sutton lads. The kids have provided their own pads and pants in most cases, while the shoes and sweaters have been supplied by the school funds. North York secondary schools in a year or two will be out of the rugby backwoods and able to hold their own in competition and color with the city and nearby big schools. Special mention on the Aurora club goes to gridders: Ralph Rank, kicking, blocking, and defensive backfielder; Jim Ross, scabback com-; quarter-back Mac Urquhart, who mixes the plays well and tosses a jim-dandy short, flat pass; lineman John Gilbert, sturdy plunger and blocker; and Chuck Ethridge, a deadly tackler. While these youngsters stand out over the season let's not forget such fellows as Jim Stocks, Neil Melbourne, Frankie Lee, Blain Topper, Hugh McRae, Dave Backley, Jim Patton, Doug Wells, Howard Stone, Frank Harrison, Dick Bull, Dutch Elliott, George Hatley, Jim Lawlor, Phil Hobson, Ken Ham, Bill McGirr, Don Marchant and Dave Craydale, who work in unison to exploit to the full the modified "T" formation used by coach Greigore. Only five or six of the lads played any football last season, and track and field events held up practices until October, so Mr. Greigore can take a big bow for a job well done with green material!

Young McRae shows promise as a kicker, and he's spending hours outside school to perfect the art. In running shoes, the other day he booted several 55-yards, and he and Rank have been consistently steady in their punting. The kicking end of the game is once again being recognized as one of the main features of the Canadian game, despite the fact that in recent years it has been greatly neglected in favor of the more spectacular forward pass. Topper, who specializes in blocking, has in his quiet way been largely responsible for any of the scoring reaching paydirt. We can look forward to a few University colors coming out of the North York secondary schools in the not too distant future.

As a must on your sports, social and good-times calendar mark down Thursday, Nov. 24. To aid the club in their obligations to the injured Bill Wilkins and to get the fans acquainted with the team Aurora Hawks are holding a dance at Bert Mayrand's Ambassador Room at Aurora. The entire proceeds aside from the orchestra go to the fund. Norm. Burling and his ten-piece band will be on hand, and of course, "Farmer" Ball will be calling the squares as requested. Reports from the Barrie practice are that the club is really flying, and they'll have some exhibition games shortly. Let's all give the team the support they deserve.

Hal Rogers is keeping pretty mum about the Aurora Intermediate club, but several of the lads worked out at Stouffville last Sunday and it's no secret that Loring Doolittle, Bill Murray, Normie Nigh, Irky Ross, Murray Brandon, Johnny White will form the nucleus of the club. With Stouffville in season "B" definitely, quite a bit of good playing material for intermediate is available and Ross, with pen in hand will show take to the hinterlands, by ways and by-ways to strengthen the team. A goal, with E. Smith on the sidelines, their retirement, seems to be the biggest obstacle to cross. If sponsor is found the club will work on the co-op principle, between players and officials.

Intermediate 'Spitfires' Start Gym Work-Outs

Hoffman Spitfires, who'll carry the Newmarket Intermediate banner this season, began their gym work-outs at the high school Tuesday evening. Manager Stan Smith reports a good turnout. The squad will go through a further skirmish to get into condition this Thursday evening at the high school gym at 7.30 p.m. Everyone wishing to try out with the club is asked to report. Ice is promised in ten days or less, so the club will swing right from the gym work into ice manoeuvres as soon as possible.

offers. Murray Brandon and Vic McHarg will return. Doolittle, "Irky" Ross, Johnny White and Mike Cosgrove probably ready for action. Likely a few surprise nominees on the way. Could mean a lot of trouble for every team.

The two newbies, East Coast and Naval Vets, should make every step. A combination of veterans and juniors. Looks like a busy and interesting season. Summing it up, here's the way we see it: come spring and we count noses. It will be Newmarket, Sutton, Naval Vets, Aurora, Bradford and East Coast in the order. Should Woodbridge get the green light to come in, throw it in fourth. Enough guess work for once. Better say no more.

Name Edward Callender New Arena Engineer

Following the recent appointment of Percy Hutchinson as rink manager at the Newmarket Memorial arena, the board of management has hired Edward Callender as engineer. Mr. Callender was employed as an assistant at the Office Specialty and Canadian Hoffman Company. Chairman Bill Greig of the management committee and Mr. Hutchinson attended the meeting of the Ontario Arenas Association in Barrie last Sunday. The association has representatives from almost every artificial ice arena in Ontario. Each representative gathered there that will prove useful in the operation of Newmarket arena.

The applications for rink time are starting to come. Says Mr. Hutchinson, better get your bid in early so a complete schedule can be drawn up.
